CUT EXPENSES IS WARNING OF
CARL KOSITZKYState Auditor Declares Administration and Legislature
Must Curtail

POINTS OUT METHOD

Says Million and a Half Should Be Lopped off of Expenditures of State

Drastic curtailment of expenses is an imperative duty of the state administration and the legislature during the next year, Carl Kositzky, state auditor, declared today.

Every unnecessary employee should be lopped off the payroll and expenses of the state cut $1,500,000, the auditor added. Specific measures the legislature might take to accomplish this were pointed out by Mr. Kositzky.

Among the measures suggested by Mr. Kositzky to cut down state expenses are:

Repeal of immigration department law and refund of about $50,000 remaining in that department's account to general fund.

Take rural credits institution out of the Bank of North Dakota and transfer its activities to board of university and school lands.

Assign duties of mill and elevator association officials to board of administration; same with the home builders' association.

Transfer duties of enforcement of grain grading and inspection act to commissioners of agriculture and labor.

Readjustment Problem

These are only a few methods by which expenses of the state may be reduced, said Mr. Kositzky. Big salaried employees and unnecessary employees ought to go. During the period of readjustment it is the imperative duty of the state administration to observe strict rules of economy.

The Bank of North Dakota is loaned about $2,000,000 on real estate at a cost of about $32. During the same period it has made these to the board of university and school lands has loaned $2,000 to the farmers of the state at an average cost of $400. The people have left the Bank of North Dakota and organized as a rural credits institution and it should be made such an institution. The success of the board of university and school lands is son enough for placing it in charge of the bank.

Administration Duties

The board of administration members are started. Yet one of them, drawing $3,000 a year, hasn't been in Bismarck a half dozen times this year. They should be required to devote all their time to their work and each member could be assigned a specific duty as under the commission form of city government. One could take over the duties of the mill and elevator association. Now, J. A. Mc Govern maintains offices in Bismarck and in Fargo and the industrial commission has an office here.

Likewise one member could supervise the home builders' association and let a $5,000 a year man drop off the payroll.

Grain Grading Expense

The enforcement of the grain grading act should be handled by the commissioner of agriculture and labor. It is needless to have two officials handling agricultural problems and there are plenty of men on the pay roll of the commissioner of agriculture and labor's office to permit the office to handle the work.

Tax payments are to be made in two installments instead of annual by beginning next year, the auditor said.

This means added expense. One community he said, has registered $6,000 of warrants with the treasurer to pay the keep of insane persons at Jamestown being unable to pay cash.

With crop failures in some sections of the state and general decline in agricultural prices the revenue of counties will be cut, he said, because a considerable amount of taxes will not be collected.

CUT EXPENSES

claims goes beyond anything he has met in an experience of ten years. Children, including two little orphans whose mother has been dead for some years are living with an unmentionable father in a stable. The family, one end and the castle in the other and without the worn and tattered clothes of the former.

At least two of these girls, at a serious aspect are being where a wife and mother who through fear left her home one night scantly clad carrying in her arms twin babies, tender care should the brutal father repeated probably a broken family will result in a quartet of little tots who will be needing new homes.

Cheaper Food

The country is in a state of a plenty supply of cheaper food. Prices for principal crops dropped 18 per cent in October against a normal decline of 8 per cent during the month. The price per bushel decreased from $1.00 to 80 cents.

It is difficult to answer the question of why the price has dropped so much, but it is due to the fact that there is a great deal of surplus in the market.

Control of the market

The market is controlled by the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern. The two railroads control the market and the price of grain is determined by the two railroads.

BRINTON LOSES
OFFICIAL PAPER
LAW SUIT HERE

Judge Nussele has decided that official newspapers are entitled to printing required for their papers as soon as the certificate of election is issued or them.

J. W. Brinton brought the action declaring his newspaper should continue as Burleigh county official newspaper until all officers elected on Nov. 2 take their offices the first of the year, holding an official newspaper occupies the same relation as a candidate. Theodore Koffel represented him.

The attorney general and state's attorney argued against this contention, and were sustained.

LEGISLATURE IS AIM

law, if they have conducted their business properly."

Mr. Cathro told the bankers they could judge his conduct in the matter from his conduct in the past. He added that no more money would be withdrawn than he thought necessary, although he couldn't say how much would be withdrawn.

There were conferences of many Nonpartisan league powers in the state capitol late Wednesday, and it was understood that the question of whether or not there would be a special session of the legislature was to be decided yesterday.

Want Demand

Last night the information was divulged that the administration would not invoke a special session unless the bankers asked a special session to re-lease the initiated laws.

There will be no such appeal made to the Governor, it is believed. Answering the questions, those opposed to a special session point out that least 15,000 members of the Nonpartisan league, or league supporters.

An effort has been made to hasten the closing of a dozen banks in the state on the initiated law. Mr. Cathro has said, however, that the initiated law was not responsible for the closing of the banks. The law is not effective until the canvassing board meets to canvass the vote and cannot be effective before Dec. 3.

Cause of Situation

O. E. Loftus, state bank examiner, has said that the reduction in the value of agricultural products and livestock, the failure of farmers to sell their products, has been responsible for the closing of banks. Mr. Cathro has said that the initiated law might make matters more acute and Mr. Loftus has said substantially the same thing.

Realization of the fact that there ought not to be any unnecessary disturbance of conditions at this time prompted the Slope Bankers' association to take the step it did. Some of the bankers feel that some of the leaders in the Nonpartisan league are taking advantage of the situation to try and play politics, when the policy of the Bank of North Dakota was announced as the calculated to better conditions.

WAR VESSEL ON LAKE SUPERIOR HALTS RUNNERS

Uncle Sam Sends Submarine Chaser to Lake to Aid In Fight

ONE BIG CATCH MADE

Duluth, Nov. 24. Operations of whiskey smugglers who have been reported as running rum into the United States from Canada via the water route are believed to have been curtailed by the presence in Lake Superior of one of Uncle Sam's war vessels.

Although the ship—a submarine chaser—was assigned to Lake Superior principally to assist the coast guard in safeguarding the lives of seamen and in giving help to other ships in distress, according to N. A. Linderberg, deputy collector of customs here, she has been asked by customs authorities to keep a lookout for violators of the country's customs laws. The vessel carries no guns, according to Mr. Linderberg.

Last summer the chaser caught a band of whiskey runners on Isle Royal, taking a small motor boat carrying 30 cases of Canadian made liquor and arresting three men who will be tried at the January term of federal court, according to Linderberg. This was the only seizure by the vessel reported to customs officials here, he said. This capture, however, along with unverified reports that the vessel's first duty is to stop illegal liquor traffic between Canada and the United States is believed to have had the effect of making whiskey runners less ambitious.

The vessel is not confining its operations to any particular part of the in-

WAIT FOR TOWN TO GROW

Criticism Made That Too Many Small Communities Are Slow in Making Improvements.

It has been figured up that there are about 12,000 small towns in the United States half of them with populations of 500 or less, says the "Inland magazine." It is these small towns that the rural people are intimately associated with. They sell their produce there, buy the things they need; in fact, these are a part of the rural community. Some of these small towns will become cities, but a very large per cent of them will remain as they are. It is no disgrace to live in a small town, but the rule is that these people are waiting until next year or some future year to improve their schools, put in sidewalks, a water system or a sewer system to safeguard the health of the people or before taking any step to improve the social and living conditions of the children.

It is a marvelous portrayal of the human body at its best. One beholds in its composition a true symbol of strength. It presents a rare combination of physical and mental development, of skin, sinews, bones, steady nerves and firm muscles; fairly vibrating in animation—full, alert, fresh, and spirited with life; unbroken, unbroken, and in full radiance; in color and illuminated with a glow of health and cheerfulness.

LYKO

The Great General Tonic

Nothing more dangerous as a stimulator of exhausted nerves and a restorer of worn-out strength than the Great General Tonic. It is a true tonic, containing new and rare herbs, and revives the spirits of those who are weak, frail, languid and debilitated. It is a safe, reliable and safe stimulator of the nerves and muscles. It is a reliable appetizer, stimulant in its digestion and a fine tonic restorer of the body. TODAY and you'll come back to the picture of health.

CHILD PRODIGIES ARE ALL THE GO!

(CENTER) MILDRED WELLERSON; (BELOW) LILLIAN PALMER; (1) ESTHER KAPLAN (2) SAMUEL RZESZEWSKI; (3) ELIZABETH PAULINE GULICK; (4) SAMUEL JUNGREIS; (5) MARIE KEMPTON; (6) NATALIE ORMSBY; (7) CAMERON COFFEE; (8) EDWARD R. HARDY

Mothers and fathers of Bismarck, have you a little prodigy in your home?

Think that over, for the smart thing in this day and age, among the younger folks, is to be a celebrity!

And if one of your children has accomplished the "unheard of," for a tiny tot, send the child's picture and the story of his accomplishment to the Bismarck Tribune.

During the present year an unusual number of child prodigies have started the world. Here are 10 of the smartest.

MILDRED WELLERSON, 10, of New York, is an accomplished cello player and has been referred to as "the greatest wonder of the musical age."

LILLIAN PALMER, 3, of New York, has entertained large audiences with her classic dancing and has been acclaimed a distinguished artist.

ESTHER KAPLAN, 18, of Kansas City is a star calculator. She recently won in competition with four adding machines operated by experts SAMUEL RZESZEWSKI, 9, of Poland, is the chess wonder of the day. He simultaneously defeated 19 West Point players and tied a 62-year-old colonel, who was champion.

ELIZABETH PAULINE GULICK, 8, of Brooklyn, is a writer, entertainer and actress, now appearing in "Daddy Dumpling." She has entertained children with her original fairy stories.

Too Weak to Do Anything

The ordinary every-day life of most women is a ceaseless treadmill of work. How much harder the tasks become when some derangement peculiar to her sex makes every movement painful, and keeps the nervous system all unstrung until life seems hardly worth living. Every woman in this condition should profit by the experience of these two women whose letters follow.

Read the Experience of These Two Women

Reading, Pa.—"I had organic inflammation, pain in the side and back which were so sharp that they pulled me to my knees, and I could not walk. I had an operation and still I failed, and in the eight years I suffered I had four doctors and none helped me. My mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and she told me she had taken it with good results, and advised me to try it. I was then in bed, and after the first bottle I could be out of bed, then I took Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and also used the Sanative Wash. I still take the medicine and am able now to do my own housework. My friends say, 'My, but you look well—what do you do? Who is your doctor?' And there is only one answer, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines which I gladly recommend.'"—Mrs. W. M. Stein, 560 Douglas Street, Reading, Pa.

Gainesville, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my side. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband and I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she told me she had taken it with good results, and advised me to try it. I was then in bed part of the time, and my doctor said I would have to be operated on but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound, and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work, and do my housework besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine."

Chinese Beginning to See the Virtues of the Sewing Machine and the Typewriter

Here and there in Manchuria new sounds have recently become audible—a steady whirring noise emanating from some Chinese household that has recently become possessed of a sewing machine and click click click from the local office of some foreign business firm that tells the initiated that somebody within is operating a typewriter. Or perhaps the click click-click is erratic and then one may know that some ambitious young Chinese has acquired a typewriter and is sedulously teaching himself to use it probably with one finger. The sewing machines are more common than the typewriters. For an American company has sent its traveling men up and down the land, and they have been selling its useful product even in remote corners of south Manchuria. As for the typewriters the only variety yet available is the small traveling machine for which the Chinese student willingly pays 125 gold yen. His typewriter in terms of American currency, costs him $82.50.

The demand for typewriters in fact, is greater than the supply and none of the larger machines is yet on the market. Sooner or later no doubt there will be plenty of them for the foreign firms are opening more and more local branches, each of which needs Chinese assistants with a knowledge of English and, if possible, some skill at the typewriter. So far the schools teach English, but the student must learn typewriting as best he may if he seeks to qualify himself as a good many are said to do for starting a commercial career as assistant in one of these foreign businesses. —Christian Science Monitor

Picturesque Indian Village Where, Among Other Things, One May Watch the Salmon Leap

The little Indian village of Awiiglute, on the Bulkley river in British Columbia is famous for its leaping salmon writes Helene De Courcy Lett in Travel. Here over a great rock which almost blocks the river way salmon were leaping. A leap of 18 feet is necessary. Old time traders and guides the old Hudson's Bay posts Indians and tiny grounds the towering Roche Mountains, incrust with poles and the flashing fish leaping high in the air above the in which of waters all these are at Awiiglute. All fish men will sympathize as they read of the "big fish that we could see quite plainly as they swam toward the edge of the pool—fish for the big ones that is" when you have to watch them swimming contumaciously past your fly and those who rainbow trout. There was an ancient bridge there once and upon it 10 squaws were made to dance to test whether it was safe for a horse to cross, while the heavy structure swung to and fro above the boiling water.

If you have the toothache just press one of your fingers and the ache will disappear.

That's zone therapy. It's the last thing, according to Dr. William Fitzgerald of Hartford, Conn.

He was one of the speakers before the Central Society of Physical Therapeutics in convention at Chicago recently.

Yours whole body, Doctor Fitzgerald explained, is divided into ten perpendicular zones corresponding to the ten toes or fingers. There are bunches of little—what we might call elastic buttons—on the body.

If you press one you switch off the pain somewhere else. It's a sort of medical Judo.

PRETTY DANCING PARTY

The Forty Club had their first dancing party of the season on the eve of Thanksgiving in Patterson Hall. The hall was turned into a rustic scene of autumn foliage with banks of wild rose shrubbery rounding off the corners of the hall. Lights shaded in autumn colors, and a realistic camp fire effect completed the lovely setting for the club's initial party. An informal program of dances made up the evening's diversion with music by the Patterson orchestra.

Midnight supper was served the guests in the dining room of the McKenzie and dancing resumed until the full program had been enjoyed.

Much appreciation was felt over the success of the party due to the committee in charge of which Mrs. John Graham was chairman.

The club hopes to have their second party of the series during the Christmas holidays.

Charles Campbell Succumbs at His Home in City Here—Funeral Tomorrow

In the death of Charles Campbell who died at his home 917 Front street yesterday morning at five o'clock there has passed one of the pioneers of North Dakota and the historic west frontier.

The deceased was born on February 3, 1850, in Illinois and came to the Slope country forty years ago.

Charles Campbell who until a few years ago was employed as a guard at the State Penitentiary spent his young manhood in the United States army and was one of the men who marched out of Littleton Lincoln in the historic command of General Custer as a member of the Seventh U. S. Cavalry. In 1876 the Seventh cavalry was part of the Terry column that left Fort Lincoln for the Yellowstone country May 17, 1876. This was one of the three columns sent to round up the hostile Indians under Sitting Bull who were supposed to be in the Little Big Horn Valley. The other commands were under Colonel Gibbon with 400 men from Fort Ellis, Montana. General Custer with 1,200 men from Fort Fetterman, Wyoming. That was the time when General Custer with his Seventh regiment of cavalry started from the mouth of the Rosebud River in Montana on June 22d in pursuit of Sitting Bull's Indians. Coming in sight of the Indians on the morning of the 25th, he divided his regiment into three battalions. One of three companies and Indian scouts under Major Reno, one battalion of three companies under Captain Benteen and five companies remaining under the direct command of General Custer. A pack train, escort by one company under Captain McDougal accompanied Reno's command. Custer's battalion was wiped out. Reno's and Benteen's command together with the pack train, combined after Custer's charge holding out against the Indians in a siege of two days until relieved by Terry with the Gibbon command on the 27th of June. The deceased Charles Campbell was a member of Company M under Captain French. Two of the men detailed to guard the pack train in the famous siege were James Boyle who died in Bismarck a short time ago and Charles Campbell who died yesterday.

Funeral services for the deceased will be held at the Webb parlor tomorrow morning at ten o'clock. Pall bearers are Anton Beck, Jack Lyons, K. Engen, Russ Bolton, Charles Whit and George Gandy. Rev. G. H. Quinley will conduct the service.

AT DEATH'S DOOR

I was talking with my neighbor Mr. Webb the other day regarding the great trouble his stomach had given him. He said he suffered 7 or 8 years and had been almost at death's door a number of times from acute indigestion and bloating of gas which seemed to shut off his heart action. He said he wouldn't have lived much longer if he hadn't taken "Lives." Wonderful remedy when he did which made a well man of him. It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the intestinal mucus from the intestinal tract and all the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments including appendicitis. R. H. TRACY GOES
WEST TO MAKE
LUMBER PLANS

Richard H. Tracy left today for the Pacific coast on a business trip which will require his absence from the city for more than a month.

Mr. Tracy is making the trip in the interest of his who exclusive lumber business. He has connections with many mills on the Pacific coast and distributes lumber over a large section of territory tributary to Bismarck.

Mr. Tracy will visit the mills to get first-hand information of conditions to make arrangements for lumber for builders of this section and particularly to make arrangements for the quickie portable methods of production and shipping of the lumber. ## THE PAY IN PEACE

The trade of the United States with Mexico this year, according to the government's estimates, will touch the $300,000,000 mark for the first time in history. This is almost three times the trade between the two countries five years ago.

There may be glory in war, in revolutions, but there is golden prosperity in peace. Mexico now is learning this. A few years of this peaceful prosperity will do more to wipe out banditry ambitions from peon minds than an avalanche of laws and an army of police.

TALK BY MEN

Men wrote and talked against hoop-skirts. And women stopped wearing them.

Men wrote and talked against bustles. And women stopped wearing them.

Men wrote and talked against the tight hobble-skirts of a few seasons past. And women stopped wearing them.

Men wrote and talked against the thin, low-shoes women wore in winter. Then, last winter, women rushed to buy heavy arctic overshoes, and the demand was greater than the manufacturers could fill.

Men wrote and talked against filmy silk stockings.

Now, women who follow the fashions closely are quitting silk stockings and are wearing wool.

Adam probably criticized the attire of Eve.

Certainly this sort of criticism has been common so long as anyone can remember. But it is probable that all the talk by men about what women chose to wear never had the slightest effect. That is as it should be. What is suitable for women to wear is for women and not men to decide.

Critics whose opinions on this subject are ignored need only exercise a little patience. The record shows that every style they condemn soon passes into the discard.

AN EXCEPTION

Surely it cannot be that the ways of law are always devious and difficult of understanding. It must be that sometimes ordinary folks can understand what occurs in courts of justice.

To put the case, there is the decision of Judge E. E. Cushman in federal court at Tacoma, Wash., the other day.

Where bankers or plumbers or steeplejacks or brokers, with their untrained minds might have been confused by the problem presented Judge Cushman, that worthy, educated in the law, made the matter simple and to be understood.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hermans were arrested and charged with having made liquor and carrying it to customers.

Possessing liquor is an offense against the peace and dignity of the state of Washington.

Transporting liquor is an offense against the federal government.

Hence—on the first charge, that of making and possessing moonshine, the Hermans were tried in state court and found not guilty.

The wheels of law continued their turning. In due course appeared the Hermans before Judge Cushman's federal court, to show cause why they should not go to jail for transporting liquors.

"But," protested Hermans, "the state court found we didn't have any liquor. If we didn't have any liquor how could we carry it?"

"No liquor; no transportation of liquor," ruminated Cushman. "To carry a thing one must have the thing. That seems to be true."

"He thought it over. Suddenly there was the dawning light of understanding."

"You're right!" quoth he. "If you didn't have liquor you couldn't carry it. You must be right. You're free!"

That was simple, wasn't it? Why then, do you say, the law can't ever be understood?

No man should so act as to take advantage of another's folly. —Cicero.

TO KILL WILDCATS

Every dollar invested in wildcat stock is thrice lost:

First, by the man who saved it;

Second, by legitimate industry forced to compete for capital against blue-sky stock crooks;

Third, by society, which would have profited by use of the money in legitimate business.

And it isn't always the dollar sunk in mythical gold mines or oil wells that thus commits suicide.

W. B. Colver, former member of the Federal Trade Commission, cites the case of a substantial, going New York concern, in need of more capital. It got the money on these terms: Of every dollar invested by the public the company received 30 cents. The balance was split three ways—23 cents to the underwriters, 29 cents to the sub-underwriters and 18 cents to the brokers.

Addressing the National Coffee Roasters' Association, Colver said that a way must be found to protect against financial middlemen who exact such terrible toll, and the out and out crook.

Efforts of various states to do this through "blue-sky" laws have been ineffectual. There are obvious drawbacks, also, in proposed schemes to license stock issues through a federal agency or some recognized stock exchange.

Federal license would make the government almost a guarantor of issue ok'd, and would hamper many worthy enterprises not able to comply with technical rules. The stock exchange plan would put legitimate business in the hollow of the hand of the stock broker.

Publicity is Colver's solution—enforced publicity of all facts involved in the stock issue.

He would require detailed statements of a concern's financial and physical condition, of the purpose for which the new money would be used, of all promotion fees and payments to bankers, underwriters or brokers.

Responsibility for false statement would be pinned on the company itself, its officers and promoters, its financial agents and all others concerned in marketing the issue.

With such knowledge of the facts, and such protection against lies, an investor would go into a deal with his eyes open.

TO PUT FINISHING TOUCH TO TOWNLEYISM

"Townleyism" didn't do well in the elections, in which it had sown much seed of the money of farmers and workers. It lost all the states it attempted to win outside its original birthplace in North Dakota, and it retained its hold there by a margin so narrow that its fall from power clearly is only a question of another election at the farthest.

It seems plain that Townleyism has reached and passed its high tide, and its ebb is likely to be much more rapid than its flood.

That is a reason for thanksgiving, of course; yet it would be a tragic folly if we remained content to let it go at that.

For though Townleyism used wrong methods and proposed very doubtful remedies, it would be unfair to forget this: that unless there was something radically wrong with the process of getting commodities from the producer to the consumer, there would and could be no such strength to Townleyism as it has developed in half a dozen states. Indeed, before Townleyism came along we were all of us freely admitting that there WAS something wrong, and that in the interests of producer and consumer we ought to see what could be done about it.

The first step in the real and final and completely victorious fight against Townleyism is to find out what is really wrong. The next step is to correct that wrong. If we do not do that, even if Townleyism passes for the moment the spirit of discontent that created it will flower anew in some other and perhaps more dangerous form.

If we admit that it costs too much to get commodities from the producer to the consumer, it does not at all follow that we must embrace Townley's remedies. Townleyism would have us lean on the state and put the state into business in the place of the middlemen. As to that it is no convincing answer to say that it is "socialism" and that all who favor it are "socialists" if not Bolsheviks and something less than hundred per cent Americans. A far better answer is to point out that unfortunately experience has not shown the state to be a good enough business man to be likely to afford much relief either to producer or consumer.

It isn't Bolshevism, or even a very advanced sort of socialism, to be for state elevators, state mills, state this, that and the other thing; but in view of the fact that we haven't got our governments in state or nation down to a businesslike basis yet—very far from it—it isn't very good sense, either.

Mr. Preus, in opposing the Townley candidate for governor, came the nearest anybody has come yet to admitting that there is some validity to the farmer's complaints and to proposing better remedies than Townley offers. He talked co-operation; and that was wise talk and had a good deal to do, we have no doubt, with his election. The citrus growers, the raisin growers and the fruit growers of the Pacific Northwest have shown the way by their successful co-operative marketing organizations; and there is no reason why the wheat growers shouldn't be as successful if they will drop the will-o'-the-wisp of Townleyism and go at it, and if the shortsighted Minneapolis chamber of commerce men who have prevented farmers' co-operative organizations from acquiring a farmers' member of their body will stand out of the way.

The kind of fight that has been made against Townleyism hasn't stopped it in four years. Isn't it about time that a more intelligent kind of fight were being made against it? For IT IS a menace—the discontent on which it rests is STILL a menace—not to the home and the family, but to the farmer himself and to sensible conceptions of the proper spheres of business and government.—Duluth Herald.

"There must be something wonderful about Tanlac for it has made me feel better eat better, sleep better and work better," said Anton Bernick, of 136 East Congress Street, St. Paul, Minn., a well-known employee of Swift & Company.

Tanlac has helped me so much that all my friends are stopping me on the street and asking me what it is that is making me look so well, and of course I am always glad to tell them it is Tanlac. I hadn't been down sick in bed exactly, but I hadn't felt just right for a long time. I was all run down, had indigestion, by appetite was poor and nothing agreed with me. In fact, I had to force down every mouthful I would eat and I would always suffer from indigestion for an hour or so after every meal. I also had headache and would get so dizzy at times I could hardly keep from falling. I simply had no ambition or energy to do anything.

"Just as I have already said, Tanlac has made a brand-new man of me and I am feeling fine now in every way. Of course, I will always recommend Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Bismarck by Jos. Breslow, in Driscoll by N. D. and Jos. H. Barrette, in Wing by H. P. Homar, and in Strasburg by Strasburg Drug Co.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Oliver Roberts Barton.

MORE MYSTERY

Nick was puzzled very much when he saw Waspie Weasel's footprints on Mr. Scribble Scratch's back porch, because, when he had left the Meadow Grove school only a few minutes before in search for the fairyman teacher, he was sure Waspie Weasel was before him—orange, toast, eggs and coffee, and perhaps there was a dish of oatmeal, too, but I can't say positively for the person who told it to me forgot, but he hadn't touched a morsel of anything except almost half a cup of coffee. Fairies must be like people, and want their coffee first thing in the morning.

Success or failure in lawn-making is based on the preparation of the seed bed, which necessarily requires great care and good judgment. The physical condition of the soil may be greatly improved by growing some soil-building crop preparatory to seeding. The land should be turned and sub-soiled to a depth of 6 to 12 inches, and harrowed until it is thoroughly pulverized. Before turning, a liberal application (6 to 10 tons per acre) of well-decomposed stable manure and 300 pounds of lime should be applied. When a perfect seed bed has been made, apply 600 to 800 pounds of 8-4-4 commercial fertilizer and harrow thoroughly into the first few inches of soil.

The lawn grasses should be carefully selected, and only those grasses or mixtures used that are adapted to that locality and are capable of making a good sod under existing conditions. A mixture of Kentucky blue grass, Bermuda, and white clover is especially suitable to the partially shaded lawn, the blue grass predominating in the shaded portions of the lawn and the Bermuda in the sunny spots while the clover keeps the entire lawn green throughout the winter.

The mixture should be planted during early October, using 30 to 35 pounds of blue grass, four to five pounds of clover, and a proportionate amount of Bermuda roots per acre.

The seedling of the blue grass and clover should follow the planting of the Bermuda, which should be planted in rows 18 inches apart, dropping the roots 12 to 15 inches apart and covering them to five inches deep with alternating rows. Separate sowings of blue grass and clover should be made, sowing the seed broadcast by hand or by use of a mechanical seeder. The seed should be covered lightly, brushing lightly or raking into the soil, and this followed by a light rolling.

WILLISTON IS EASY WINNER OVER GRAFTON

Takes High School Championship in Grand Forks Game

By Score of 68 to 0

Grand Forks, Nov. 26. Williston high school romped away with the state championship yesterday afternoon when it defeated Grafton by the top heavy score of 68 to 0.

Williston scored within the first two minutes of play, and ran up 41 points in the first two periods. The result was never in doubt from the first blast of the whistle to the finish.

Grafton fought gamely throughout the contest but was outweighed nearly 25 pounds to the man. The Williston team work was perfect and swept the lighter Grafton men completely off their feet.

Nelson, the speedy Grafton halfback, was the only one of the Walsh County team who could gain consistently against Cuttig's Westerners. The game was played on a slippery field which slowed up the backs on both sides to some extent.

KELLY FOURTEEN YEARS MANAGER FOR ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 26.—Mike Kelley, who has just refused an offer to manage the Philadelphia National league team next season, has served for fourteen years as manager of the St. Paul club in the American association, in three distinct periods.

Four championships have been won for the St. Paul team by Kelley. These were in 1902 and 1904 and in 1919 and 1920.

Kelley's first service as manager with the Saints was in 1902, and he continued in that capacity through 1905. He returned to the Saints in 1909 for a four-year period, and came back again in 1915 and has been here since. He was manager of the Minneapolis team in the American association in 1903; was with Des Moines in 1905, and with Toronto in 1908.

Although Kelley's contract had another year to run with St. Paul, owner John W. Norton declared he would tear it up if Kelley saw fit to go to Philadelphia. Kelley, however, announced his intention to stay here another year, at least, and expressed hopes of another topnotch team in 1921, despite the sale of several crack players.

Nearly 80,000 people jammed into the mammoth Yale Bowl to see what turned out to be the largest crowd that ever witnessed a football game in this country. The Saturday was the 8th gridiron clash between the two big schools. Yale had held.

New York, Nov. 26.—There is little doubt that Princeton has one of the greatest football machines in the east that has ever seen. Now that all three of the "Big Three" games have been played there can be but little question of that fact.

It is, of course, true that as far as standing is concerned Harvard and Princeton tied with one game tied and one won. It is likewise true that the one point of differentiation is that Princeton's score against the unhappy Bulldogs was 20 to 0 as compared with 9 to 0 made by Harvard.

Triumphant in Defeat

On the other hand it must be argued that Yale played a far different game against Harvard than that shown against Princeton. The Yale players appeared to be sluggish, off color, in the Princeton game. In the Harvard game they were outclassed but triumphant even in defeat.

Nevertheless it will be the verdict of those who saw all three games that Princeton meeting here, but went out to stand in the proposed circuit.

St. Paul may be the sixth team in the league. That city asked admittance some time ago, but at that time the six-team league was intact. With Duluth's withdrawal, however, St. Paul now is offered the opportunity to enter, and the snatter has been referred to Houghton, the Canadian and American Soos and Eveleth for their opinion. Calumet is expected to favor the Saints' entry as the team has always been popular with local fans.

Secretary George Cudlip of Marquette said Duluth gave no reason for withdrawing. The Zenith City was not represented at the organization.

BASKETBALL RULES CHANGED

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 26.—Athletic representatives of the Minnesota conference colleges will meet at St. John's university at Collegeville, Minn., December 6, for action on basketball.

The question of a hockey league also will be taken up, it is said, as several colleges are reported in favor of such a league. It has been stated that if the conference does not formally take up hockey, the three colleges in the Twin Cities—Macalester, St. Thomas and Hamline—and possibly either St. Olaf or Carleton at Northfield will form an informal four-team circuit and have a championship race all their own.

SAN FRANCISCO—Ty Cobb is stealing Babe's stuff. He pushed out two homers in an exhibition game at Sacramento the other day.

READY TO GALLOP SAN FRANCISCO—It is estimated that 700 horses will be assembled at Tijuana for the winter race meet when the curtain goes up. Jockeys are swarming westward.

SOONER STADIUM NORMAN, Okla.—Coach Bennie is planning to ask the state legislature for an appropriation of $340,000 with which to build a new athletic field.

JUST LIKE RUBE SACRAMENTO—Nick Altrock was selected as a pinch pitcher in the exhibition game here and called in off the fielders while he attempted to strike out the side.

BRIDWELL'S JOB ATLANTA—Al Bridwell, ex-Giant, will manage the Spartanburg club in the Carolina association.

WASHINGTON IS CLOSE WINNER OVER NEBRASKA

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 26.—By the scant margin of point, Washington State College of Pullman yesterday defeated Nebraska in a football game that wound up the local season. The score was 81 to 25 and it pretty accurately measured the strength of the two teams.

It was a hard, tough, clean cut game from the start. Washington opened with a dazzling aerial attack in the second period, tying the score, and in the third period increased her lead when Burkman drop-kicked a goal for three points. Valparaiso came back with an attack in the last period, scoring two touchdowns.

Out-played at the start by the heavier Nebraska men, Washington sprang and before the game was 10 minutes old reversed the early showing.

For Nebraska, the chief ground gainers were Dale, Wright, Moore and Newman. Swanson played a star game and was responsible for most of the local gains on forward passing. For Washington, Sax was a power until he was injured. Not far behind him in sensational work was Melvor, Sandberg and Gillia. Score by periods:

Nebraska ..... 7 7 6 20
Washington ..... 7 0 0 14 21

Preparation of Annual Lawn.

The annual lawn, which is necessary in some cases preparatory to the making of the permanent lawn, may be made by sowing with Italian rye seed either in fall or spring at the rate of two bushels per acre. When properly cared for this will make a beautiful green sward, six to eight weeks from sowing. It is imperative that this grass be cut when it has reached a height of three to four inches; otherwise the lawn will be unattractive.

Find Old Roman Tombs.

Four Roman tombs, built in the third century and containing golden objects, urns, glass work, pottery and bones have been found in a gravel pit near Heerlen in Dutch Limburg. Many of the things are of great scientific value and further excavations are being made.

Keep on Planting Trees.

As an asset to any piece of property a tree or trees can not be overestimated. The moment a tree is planted the value of a piece of property is increased. As Mr. Kennedy says to the boys, "time goes on just the same," so why not plant some trees. The tree-planting campaign that is occupying the attention of the country right now has taken on many phases, and in each of these phases the value of the property is being increased whether it be a school yard or a "Road of Remembrance," such as is being planted with memorial trees in many parts of the country. A properly planted road means better transportation to or from or between towns. That all means better business, better living conditions, and a better country.—Sheldon Ridderup, National Property Owner.
